ARGO 1970

Westminster College

New Wilmington, Pa.

William Dolton, Editor

Westminster College is a transient community, not only in the sense that the student body is always changing, but administration policies and curriculum change also. Seniors can think back four years and recall a different Westminster. Underclassmen will think ahead and imagine a different Westminster. Argo 1970 is an effort to capture representative examples of the people and events of Westminster, 1970. It is an effort to record rather than analyze, so that the individual reader can recall 1970 according to his personal relationships with Westminster, her people and her institutions.

May 4, 1970

"Last Friday afternoon I welcomed the opportunity to confer at length with the Student Leaders Coalition. Primarily we discussed the proposals which were referred by the Coalition in referendum form to the Student Body on April 27.

"I reiterated my support for a central representative organization of the Student Body and offered to serve on a joint task force whose assignment would be to define at the earliest possible time the powers and responsibilities of such an organization and its relationships to other groups at Westminster.

March 4, 1970

"I regret the decision of the members of Student Government to remove themselves from the college community. The attempts of Student Government during the past two years to restructure their Constitution have pointed up the difficulties in defining the role of Student Government as the representative of the student body in its relationships to the administration, the faculty and other student groups. The key issue is the feeling of Student Government that the organization in student affairs should be virtually autonomous in its relationships to the administration, the faculty and other student groups. This attitude is incompatible with the entire structure of Westminster College. Since becoming President of Westminster, I have welcomed the numerous opportunities to confer with student leaders, and I shall continue to do so."

"In my opinion a better understanding was reached as to the strengthened role of such an organization compared to the earlier Student Government. Also I felt that a broad consensus was reached on the principle that the central student organization would be responsible for the allocation of the Student Activity Fee. As for the Student Judiciary proposal on the referendum, the standing Student Affairs Committee will be presenting this spring to the Student Body its proposals for an All-College Judicial Board.

"It is my hope that the Student Leaders Coalition will select a representative group of students to join several colleagues and myself in drafting a document which would result in a central representative organization of the Student Body."

When a person walks by a piece of sculpture it should stop him so that he has to examine it — the person must respond with feeling. The Delta Mu chapter meets monthly under the advisorship of Dr. Clara Cockerille. The activities for the year have included an initiation banquet, a tea for Dr. McGeough of Columbia University, the bi-annual Kappa Delta Pi convention in Boston, Mass., and the presentation of the Golden Apple to the person in education, music, or art, having the highest all college cumulative.

PSEA

Student PSEA, the hand of Pennsylvania's State Education Association here at Westminster, is a representative body of Westminster students who aspire to reach into the field of education. Being that the furtherance of education is the sole heart of a democracy, teacher education of any liberal arts institution is of vital importance. We find the importance of education extended in that we must prepare ourselves to teach nearly twice the number of children, more than twice as much information and knowledge than did our parents generation.

Education; A Race With Social Change

This year Student PSEA has presented programs ranging from teacher certification laws, to a group of elementary children who gave their candid views of school, to the theme of teacher strikes in Youngstown last year.

Education; A Race With Social Change

Associated with the National Educational Association, Student PSEA, with its membership of more than 50, will inevitably find its own by means of its inherent necessity; standing for education within the framework of an educational institution—Westminster.

PI DELTA EPSILON

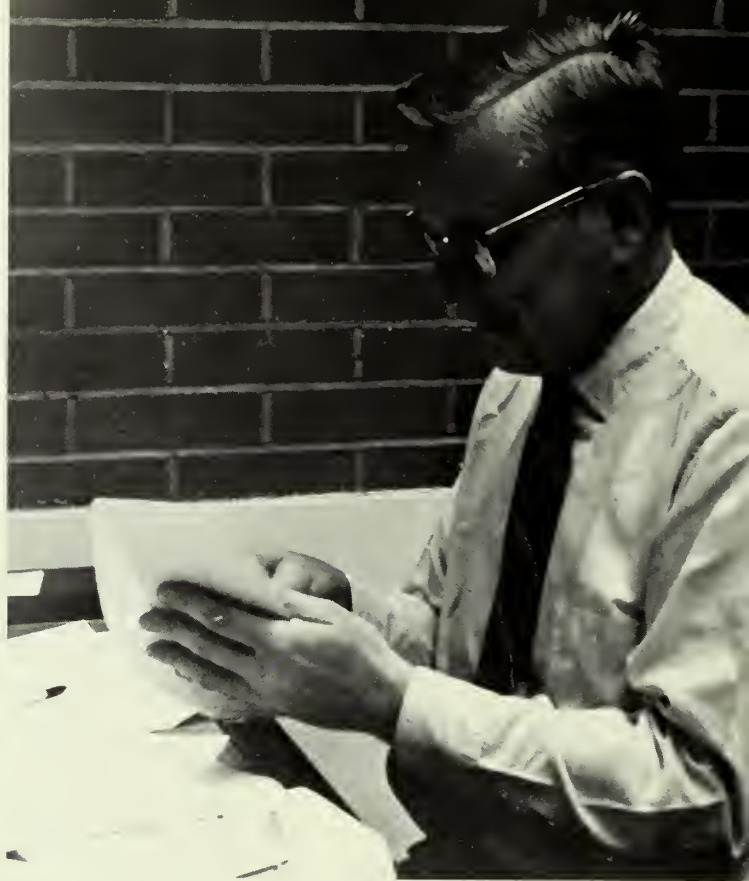

This year Dean Graham Ireland announced the reinstatement of Pi Delta Epsilon, the National Honorary Journalism Fraternity, on Westminster's campus. The honorary was originally organized in 1934 and was last active in 1959. The stated purpose of the organization is to promote and encourage excellence in all fields of journalism. Eighteen past and present members of the Argo and Holcad staffs pledged second semester.

Scroll, the local English Honorary, taps all interested students with 15 hours in English, including Freshman Composition and Humanities, and an average of 3.0 in English and 2.0 all-college. This year scroll made trips to dramatic productions at neighboring colleges. Among the performances seen were Ibsen's "Hedda Gabler" at Slippery Rock State College and Ionesco's "Bald Soprano" and Albee's "Zoo Story" at Geneva College.

The language department's activities this year included many speaking engagements. The Fall meeting of the American Association of Teachers of German from the Western Pennsylvania Chapter was held at Westminster College in October, 1969, and Dr. Jacob Erhardt was one of the main speakers. His topic was German-American poetry in the U.S.A. Also, Dr. George Clemens spoke on lexicography for the combined language honoraries at Westminster College on February 19. Dr. Erhardt and Professor Herzig attended the Modern Language Convention in Denver, Colorado, during the Christmas vacation. This next year Professor Cummins will be on leave of absence to complete his PhD. studies.

AMERICAN GUILD OF ORGANISTS

The American Guild of organists student group at Westminster is part of the Youngstown Chapter of the national A.G.O., a group of professional church organists working for the maintenance of high standards in church music through individual examinations, recitals, and workshops. Membership in the student group is open to all studying organ. In the past, activities have included recitals and workshops in Orr Auditorium by renowned organists, tours of large organs in major cities during semester break, and participation in all activities sponsored by the Youngstown chapter.

During 1969-1970, a special activity included a hoagie sale to raise funds for the semester break trip to New York City. This three-day tour of organs in New York City included those at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, St. Michaels' Episcopal Church, St. Thomas' Episcopal Church, St. Pauls' Chapel at Columbia, the Brick Presbyterian Church and Riverside Presbyterian Church. Members also performed in Orr Auditorium for the April 27 meeting of the Youngstown Chapter.

ALPHA PSI OMEGA

Nu Gamma Chapter of Alpha Psi Omega, the national dramatic art honorary fraternity, recognizes those students who make continual, outstanding contributions to the theatre program at Westminster. Membership is contingent upon the national standards point-system, requiring points earned in both the acting and technical aspects of theatre. Continuing service in both areas, rated each semester, is mandatory for retaining membership in Nu Gamma, since theatre, one of the most demanding of the arts, exacts the unceasing efforts of her students.

MASQUERS

Each year several outstanding honorary members are extended invitations to become "Masquers," which recognizes achievement of excellence above that required for Alpha Psi Omega. Masquers annually sponsors acting awards for "best actor and actress" in both major and supporting roles during the theatre season at Westminster.

Forensics shining glory this year was Greg Eckrich. For the second year in succession he received the D.A.P.C. (Debate Association of Pennsylvania colleges) Men's Extemporaneous award. At Westminster, forensics centers around the inter-collegiate debate team. They have travelled to the Universities of Niagra, Buffalo, Duquesne, and Pittsburgh, where they received the second place negative trophy. The outstanding trip was to the National Honorary Tourney at the University of Alabama in Tuscaloosa.

Outstanding debaters are honored by Delta Sigma Rho—Tau Kappa Alpha, the scholastic honorary for national debate on the collegiate level. To enter, one must have an outstanding two year record in forensics and rank in the top third of their class.

CWENS is a national honorary for sophomore women. Its membership is chosen on the basis of their outstanding scholarship, character, leadership and service. This year, the sixteen Cwens gave tours to prospective students, held two flower sales, and with Mortarboard delivered "Care Packages" to the women on campus just before exams.

MORTARBOARD is a national honorary which recognizes outstanding senior women for their academic achievements, participation in college activities, and service to school and community. The group meets regularly to discuss current issues at the college and it serves, when called upon, at college functions. This year it joined with Cwens to assist during Freshman Week and to produce "Care Packages" during First-semester finals, as well as providing an individual tutoring service for needy students.

The organization is dedicated to service to the college community. Some of their activities include ushering at college events, assisting freshmen during their orientation period, and giving campus tours. At the end of each year, Thanes provides a scholarship to a freshman and add to the college loan fund.

SOCIAL LIFE

LEADERSHIP

Student Government

Open letter to the Westminster College community:

"Due to the repeated refusal of the College to go beyond mere rhetoric to meaningful action in student affairs and the resulting inability of Student Government to do so, I move that the Westminster College Student Government be hereby and henceforth totally dissolved."

With the above motion, passed at the formal meeting of March 3, 1970, Student Government ceased to exist. This final action was the result of years of struggle with the powers that be and many months of extensive discussion by students both within and without Student Government. To dispel the possible charges that this is merely the result of threats, bitterness, or hasty irrationality, this letter is written to show evidence and cause.

The bargaining has not been solely between the cities of Athens = Reason and Jerusalem = Faith as is often heard about our open marketplace of ideas. The struggle has usually been between these two cities and Rome = Power — this has been the most significant dialogue to have taken place in our College.

When expedient to do so, the College had used Student Government as a representative of the student body for numerous housekeeping duties and rubber-stamp legitimizing; yet when significant and controversial issues arose, Student Government had been repeatedly passed off as being not representative of student opinion and of no more authority or consequence than the clubs and interest groups on campus. The presence of a supposed student government had also served to give the appearance to the public of student involvement in governance.

What has been done concerning student affairs and governance had been the result of already-made decisions or the efforts of a few interested individuals who have and will effect change without the need for group or committee sanction.

More than 25% of this year's Student Government representatives have resigned from frustration at the lack of genuine concern on the part of both students and administrators. Student factionalism and the refusal of various interest and power groups to align and consolidate their power within Student Government had rendered the organization even less effective.

The responsibility of handling the Student Activities Fee, which Student Government had for years attempted to acquire, has recently been relegated to another committee. Having responsibility for the Student Activities Fee fund would have given Student Government the ability to respond to a wide variety of student needs and to present a united voice of student opinion by the consolidation of student power.

Without any dialogue with the student sector, the alleged faculty constitution was drafted; yet it gave significant control over student affairs to the faculty committee structure. Student Government had not been given the opportunity to participate in the formulation or institution of any student judicial system. Across the country where student governments have been allowed to be significantly responsible, there has been the crucial involvement in at least ratifying the student judicial process.

When Student Government had attempted to respond to needs and wishes of students, i.e. the lack of weekend activities, it found itself continually rebuffed. One of innumerable examples is the hypocritical ban of Sunday movie entertainment on campus.

With the institution of the community idea, it has been increasingly difficult for organizations to retain their power. Student Government had acknowledged this trend and realized that an organization which never had power could not possibly expect to be granted power from some more favored sector.

Upon examination, there were few if any functions of Student Government which could not be capably and willingly assumed by various groups on campus. Student Government could in no way justify the euphemism "Government."

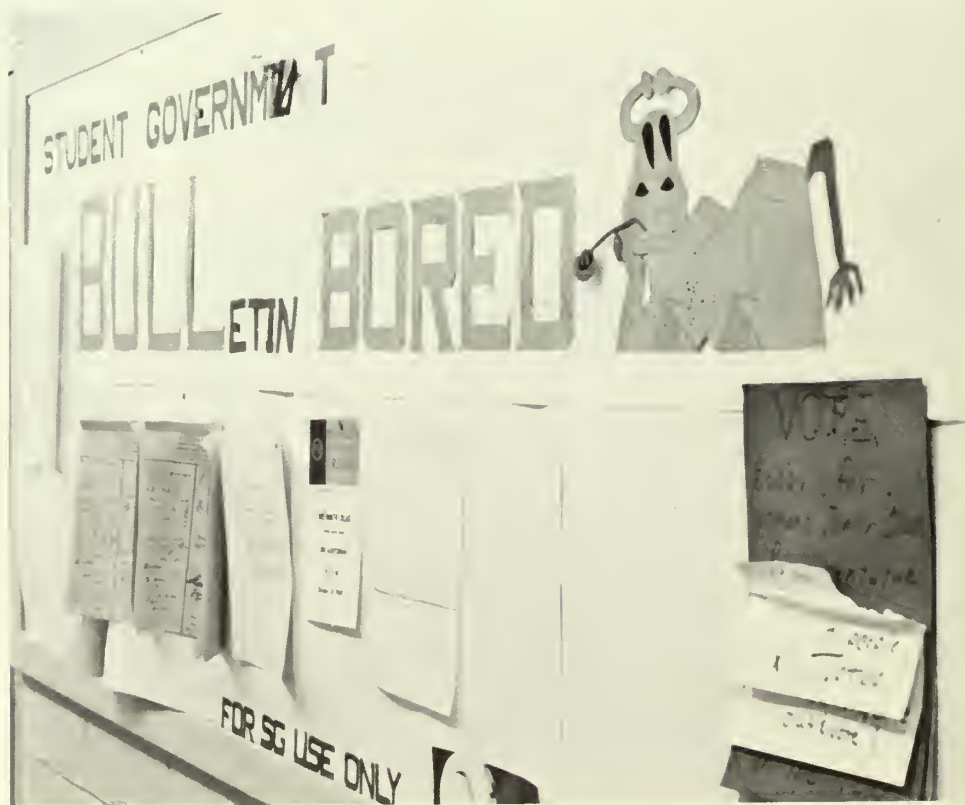

The greatest difficulty in exposing the problem has been that the practices in handling student affairs have often been so subtle and diversionary, covering or dispelling issues before they became widely known or formalized. Examples are such tactics as silence in the face of issue confrontation and criticism, predetermined or pre-directed decisions handed down to committees for the sake of appearance, the relegation of issues to committee graves, and the lack of reciprocal candidness which student leaders so actively seek.

Due to the continual stalling, rebuffing, and repeated refusals of the College to go beyond mere rhetoric to meaningful action, Student Government inevitably found it necessary to dissolve itself.

The Former Officers and Majority of Members of the Westminster College Student Government

Lance Beshore,
Former S. G. Pres.

Following the dissolution of Student Government, there were several preliminary meetings of concerned students, resulting in the "Vigil of the Silent Concern." It was held every Friday morning from 9 to 9:30 in the first floor hall of Old Main. Open meetings for representatives of virtually all groups on campus were also held. These representatives compiled all recommendations and complaints of the student body and planned a mass meeting, which was held in Wallace Memorial Chapel. The mass meeting broke up for lunch after two hours of useless debate. The leaders asked the students still present after lunch to elect a panel to co-ordinate a Student Leaders Coalition. The SLC would be comprised of the president and a representative from each group on campus. It composed a referendum including major proposals for a new Student Government. The student body voted on the referendum on April 27. The results were presented to President Carlson in the final meeting of the SLC. Following this meeting the SLC decided to hold a general election for the student membership in a task force which would include some administration and faculty members. The task force was organized to work toward the formation of a new Student Government.

SOCIAL ACTION

Black Student Union

The Black Student Union organized in the fall of 1969, is composed of the undergraduate, black students of Westminster College. The purpose of the Black Student Union is to unite the black students into a cohesive organization which can better educate their white peers on the attitudes, goals and objections of our society's black minority.

The Black Student Union has sponsored reading productions of plays such as "In White America," group discussions, and an "Experience in Black" program to achieve its goals. It has also co-sponsored a "Black Emphasis Week" in conjunction with Student Government.

Experience in Black

Peace, Inc.

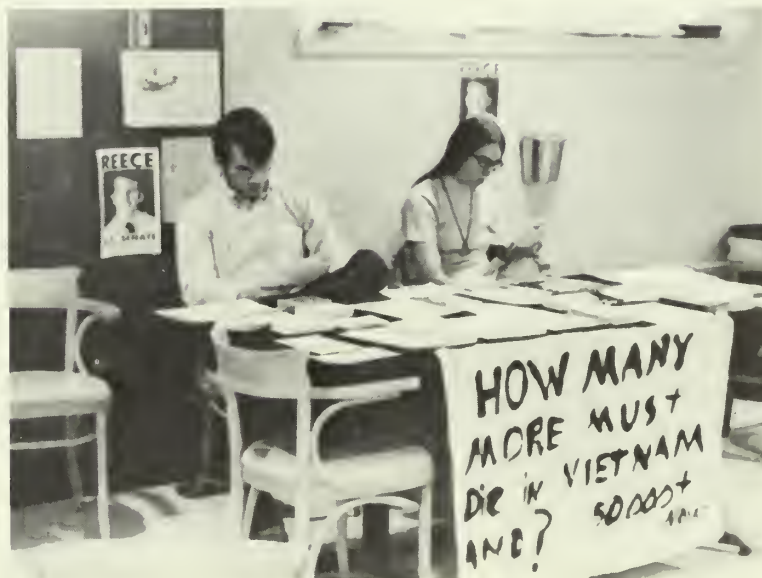

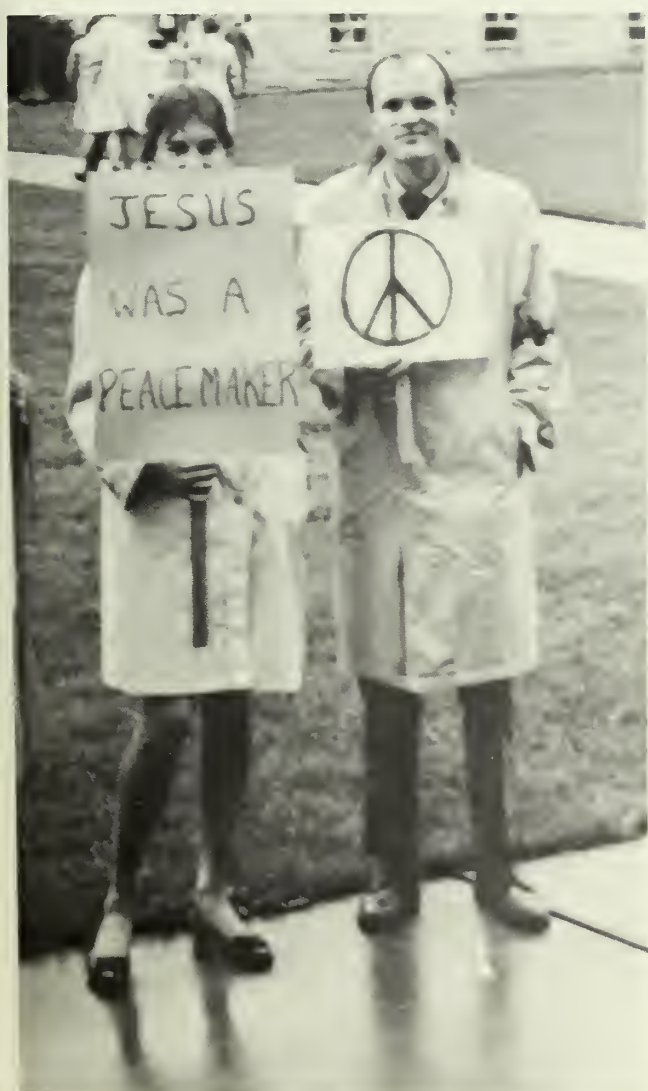

Men have been bent on systematically killing each other off since greed plagued Adam's cave. We, who claim to be sapient, have used the greater part of our reasoning to destroy, cripple and discourage peaceful thought wherever and whenever it has arisen. Christ was crucified because he loved others, because his love was contrary to the system of hatred men call government, because he recognized the power and potentialities of Peace, because he was unable to kill even unto death . . . So says the youth of today, "must we kill to live? Must we hate to survive? Must our hearts and lives be stained with the blood of our brothers? Can we not turn the rhetoric of our fathers into a reality for our sons?"

This is the project of Peace, Inc. We see and understand the challenge of Peace. We are committed to a cause which will deter and eventually eliminate man's warring ways from this earth. We feel that one individual human is more important than General Electric or Gulf Oil. It is our job as Peace, Inc., to call for a re-ordering of priorities that will place men above money, and love above hatred. The struggle to save our world is not exclusive with our organization, nor is it the product of our generation. Great men have stood before us to be martyred for the cause of Peace. Their deaths have formed our foundation. Their courage has been our inspiration. Their unwillingness to kill has become our philosophy.

"Blessed are the peacemakers . . ."

Editor, the Holcad, Time magazine, the Atlantic, the New York Times, and Mademoiselle have recently published articles on it. The literature is growing, and so is the number of readers. The militancy in Boston, in St. Louis, and on college campuses is a seconding motion to the centrality of the subject, and the explosion of the 20's is being reborn in a new surge of revolutionism. Where is it, what is it, how, and why are the questions bounding from bedchamber to board room.

It is labeled the New Feminism, but perhaps better referred to as "I Am Furious (Female)." We read about the death of the bra, the man who cooks and cleans, the Josephine plumbers, car mechanics, taxi drivers, and jockeys: the invasion of the male world by his sexual counterpart who wants an equalitarianism which far outreaches that ever demanded before.

In the microcosm, the beat goes on, as well as the bras. Women live under a system called the Pumpkin Perplex: an 18-year-old girl must come in at 10:30 on weeknights, an hour or two later on weekends. Twenty-one year old women must be in by midnight during the weekdays, and they have 7 a.m. permissions on weekends — which are on a trial basis.

Every woman must eat in the dining halls (outside of doctor-approved excuses), and she must live in the dorms (provided she is not a commuter). She must not visit any male student who does not live in the dorms unless during a chaperoned, recognized college function, or visit any male student who lives in the dorms unless during certain hours. But under no circumstances should she visit married or unmarried students who live in town.

If she comes in later than the appointed hour, she is normally incarcerated for her lack of promptness and integrity, which is judged on a minute by minute basis. Should she be found guilty of the latter offense(s), she risks seven-to-sevens, social probation, or both. Weekend permission to visit any other place than home must be obtained from her parents, unless she is awarded blanket permission, under which only the housemother must approve.

She graduates.

She must accept a job as a secretary in a large city. She must come in at night whenever she wishes, and she must visit whomever she pleases, whenever she pleases, alone, or accompanied by someone she must choose. She must go grocery shopping on the average of once a week, or she must eat out on a regular basis. If she chooses to shop, she must find a suitable place in which to live, small enough to suit her own need, yet large enough to entertain family, friends at a time she must consider convenient. She must be responsible, especially for herself.

But how much does she want to be a secretary in a large city when she was trained to be a technician, an urban research analyst, a medical researcher . . .? How often does she become pregnant when she stays out later at night than midnight? How old is old enough to decide on the choice of musts? How true is a recent commercial that croons "you've come a long way baby, to get where you got to today?" Moreover, how much does she care about all this, no matter where she must live, or to whom she must answer?

What year is it? And how late is late? Well, it is one o'clock in New Wilmington, Pa., and this student is a pregnant pumpkin who has nine months of seven-to-sevens to fulfill, breaded veal cutlet she must swallow, a room to clean that her boyfriend has yet to see, and a job to find in the next two months that hopefully has something to stimulate a brain she is not supposed to use on a regular basis, if at all. Does that sound funny? out-of-date? Call it the most joke that ever came out of the 1930's when it is 1970 and most women aren't laughing.

Is Westminster truly pathetic, apathetic, or both? What is the difference between May 28th and May 29th . . . I am only one bird in the wilderness. But I have wings. And I am going to fly. Care to join the flock?

ESCAPE!

From
People-pocked beach,
Infested
with scurrying imps
who spew
Precious sand-castles
Onto flaming faces
Diving, cheeks swollen with air,
to a blue-green peace
I become a mermaid princess ruling my rock-palace realm.
Then,
forbidden
to reign any longer
In my slow-motion paradise,
I must struggle back and gasp . . .
at the air,
the light,
the noise —
Must I now be contented with shattered sand castles?
Perhaps that is why God didn't grant me gills.

When I was at sixes and sevens
the Nile flooded past
my Grandmother's house,
a great white pyramid,
And often there among the bulrushes
I found the baby Moses Betsy Wet-sy unless I happened to be floating down the Mississippi on a two by four foot bridge raft,

in which case
Granma's house conveniently doubled as a Missouri plantation or a paddle wheel showboat or a trading post

as I paddled to shore in the two by four birch bark canoe

Yesterday when we buried Granma from the little clapboard house,
Chickens wandered in the dried-up creek bed pecking at the rocks.

Phi Kappa Tau

Four special events highlighted the year for the Phi Taus. Their second annual Christmas party for underprivileged children from New Castle was another success for both the activities and their dates and the youngsters. An outstanding pledge class climaxed the busy rush period and the pledges were quickly initiated into the spirit of brotherhood. They and the actives worked closely together on the marathon basketball benefit for Cerebral Palsy. The Phi Taus raised nearly one thousand dollars in this exhausting, but rewarding effort. At the end of the year, the pitter-patter of little feet coming from 134 Waugh Ave. gave evidence of the "blessed event" — Brandy's litter of Irish Setter puppies had arrived. She delivered the pups with the anxious assistance of many "fathers" and the admiration of many visitors.

Sigma Nu

The men of Sigma Nu started out the year with their annual Freshman Tea. They left the entertainment field for the football field, where they captured both A and B league, as well as the school championship. With no let up at all the Men of Sigma Nu went on to an undefeated season in basketball by capturing the Christmas Tournament and the A league championship. With the spring came a fine pledge class and the annual Sigma Nu Volleyball tournament. Throughout the year the Men of Sigma Nu had a representative in every Varsity sport, as well as academic honoraries, clubs, and student organizations.

Sigma Phi Epsilon

Theta Chi

This year, the fourth year as a national chapter, has been the best for the Theta Chi's. They held their own in all leagues of intramural football, basketball, volleyball, and softball. The actives were very proud of their spring pledge class of fifteen men, one of the finest. As a pledge project they initiated a successful slave sale to add to the Greek Week activities. Also during Greek Week, Theta Chi golfers and swimmers won trophies for their mantle. This year substantial improvements were made to the house, such as painting the walls and refinishing the floors. Finally they topped off a fine year by capturing the fraternity Scholastic Award, for the second consecutive year.

Sororities

PANHELLENIC CONFERENCE is the governing body for sororities on campus. Each sorority is represented by a representative and the individual sorority's president. Its main purpose is to help sororities with their problems and promote good inter-sorority relationships. As a group, the conference establishes the rushing rules and often works with IFC in planning Greek sponsored activities such as Greek-weekends.

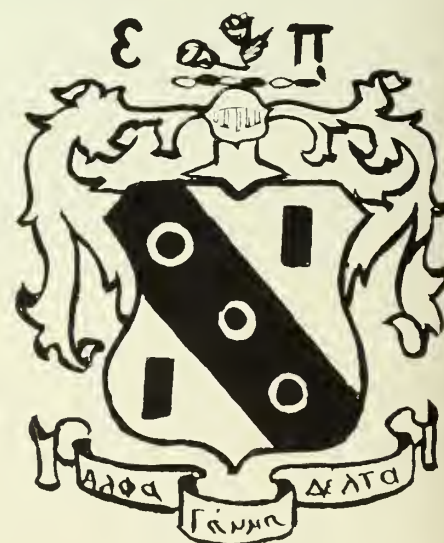

Alpha Epsilon Chapter of Alpha Gamma Delta had another great year participating in community and campus activities. Their community charity projects included their annual Halloween party for the Mercer County Crippled Children's Home, an Easter Seal drive for the Lawrence County association, and bake sales to collect money for the national AG charity project which is a summer camp for crippled children.

The AG's had a good time participating in the various inter-sorority parties. Their own tunnel party at Halloween turned out a great success again. Homecoming saw Patty Chapman as their candidate for queen and their float, the Pillsbury dough boy. Siglympics and other intramural sports took up a lot of the sisters' time. We even managed to beat all the sororities in the volleyball intramurals. They just couldn't beat the faculty.

Their greatest pride is their pledge class, once again one of the best on campus, and this year the hardest workers. They gave bake sales, sandwich sales, and shoe shines along with their regular heavy pledge duties, and earned $180 to give a party for the actives. The fall party held with the Chi O'S and the Christmas formal held with the Sig Kaps were a lot of fun. They had a casino party in the winter for their pledges and ended the year with a fabulous Spring formal at Troggio's.

Alpha Gamma Delta

Chi Omega

Omicron Gamma of Chi Omega was founded on Westminster's campus in January, 1925. Since that time the chapter has undertaken many annual service projects, such as a faculty tea, a picnic for the underprivileged children of the Settlement House, a pancake breakfast for all sorority women on campus, Thanksgiving baskets for two needy families, Christmas care packages to Vietnam, and an Easter egg hunt for the faculty children.

This year Chi Omega's Homecoming float took first place and Chris Enquist, its Homecoming candidate, was crowned queen. The greatest celebration was its 75th national anniversary on April 5.

Delta Zeta

The Delta Zeta's this year were variety, individuality, and activity. From their donations to the Cancer Society and work with underprivileged girls to their participation in Intramurals, Greek Week and the Theta Chi Slave Sale, the Delta Zeta's were involvement. The sisters also competed in Siglympics, attended dances at George Junior Republic and sponsored an Intratorority Roundup. Three houseparties, a Hayride, Bundling party and Serwer party, and the Winter and Spring formals completed the roster of activities for the women of Delta Zeta.

Kappa Delta

The sisters of Kappa Delta sorority began the year with their annual kick-off dance before the first football game. Following that, Marilyn Partlow represented the KD's as homecoming queen candidate. Their tea for housemothers and their annual Kappa Delta dessert were great successes as was their Winter formal held at Troggio's in New Castle. Cathy Sterling topped off the year by winning the first place trophy in the all-college Go-Go contest.

The new year began with rush, followed by pledging. Instead of the annual houseparty, the pledges decided to give a picnic for the actives, which turned out to be a great success. Along with taking the second-place trophy in basketball intramurals, the KD's won the Sigma Nu volleyball tournament this year. On Parent's Day they had a dinner which was followed by a skit and some songs. The year ended with their Spring formal at Schuster's in Greenville.

Phi Mu

Sigma Kappa

Homecoming was the first event of the year for the Sigma Kappa's who were represented by Nancy Markham and a second place float. Siglympics, fall rush and pledge class, and a Winter formal at the Shenango Inn kept the Sig Kap's busy. Many hours of work and fun gave them the largest sorority Spring pledge class on campus — 18 pledges. Activation, a Spring formal at Trogio's, a pledge picnic, a picnic with the Thiel chapter, and a senior picnic filled the remainder of the year for Westminster's Sig Kap's.

Zeta Tau Alpha

For the Zeta's of Westminster College, the year 1969-1970 was one filled with service and fun. In October they presented their candidate for Homecoming Queen, Pam Grundy, and exhibited their float for the year. Siglympics found the Zeta's in second place that October. They travelled to the Mercer Childrens' Home later in October to help celebrate Halloween. And toward the very end of the month, Delta Omega's were again on the road — this time to Dusquesne University, to act as a "big sister" chapter to the new chapter at Dusquesne.

The Christmas formal was held at the Voyager Inn, Youngstown, Ohio, with the theme "Winter Wonderland." Immediately after vacation, the suite was decorated for Rush. The theme was "Persian Paradise," complete with a flying carpet. The pledge class was formally welcomed with a house-party at the Theta Chi house.

In March, the Zeta's added to their regular philanthropic project (Cerebral Palsy), that of raising money for the Sally Chapin Memorial Fund. Mrs. Chapin, the advisor of Delta Omega chapter died in March.

The last months of the school year were filled with myriad activities. Delta Omega went on a retreat for a weekend in April in Grove City. Then the officers again travelled to Dusquesne, this time to initiate the new chapter formally into the national organization of Zeta Tau Alpha. The annual Ice Cream Social was again held, to the satisfaction of the campus sororities. Delta Omega also voted to continue supporting their orphan boy from the Holy Lands. And last, but surely not least, the Spring formal was held late in May at the Holiday Inn, Niles, Ohio.

The year was truly filled with fun, sisterhood and service.

High-scoring wins marked the '69 Titan football season despite two disappointing losses. The defensive squad deserves much of the credit although the offense stole the limelight with several spectacular plays. The two losses, to Marietta and Susquehanna however, were due to the inability of the Titan offense to maintain their drives. The Susquehanna game was particularly disappointing since it was lost in the last seconds. The offense more than made up these two games however, the rest of the year.

The season began with an impressive victory over Slippery Rock. Returning quarterback, Dave Bierback, connected with sophomore Dave Milliron in the first quarter and John Ebersberger booted the extra point to start the march. Then rookie halfback Roger Price dropped a pass into the waiting arms of Laroyal Wilson for the second touchdown. Other outstanding plays included the 29-yard dash for the end-zone by the hard running Joe Veres and the dazzling 59-yard punt return TD by Chick Mathews. Chick again scored in the fourth period on a pass from Skip Greenaway. Co-captains Bill Beaver and Craig McNamara led the defense in holding the Rockets to fifteen points, as the offense spread its wings.

Next weekend the Titan's wings were clipped as the Pioneers of Marietta handed the Titans a 14 to 8 on Memorial field. Twice in the first half, the offense marched powerfully toward the end-zone only to be stopped short of the goal. In the second quarter, Rich Hancox, defensive half-back, blocked a Marietta punt, recovering it for a two-point safety. Then, in the last quarter, the Titans again scored with a Bierbach-Wilson bomb. It was enough, however, even though the defense allowed Marietta only two touchdowns.

Defense played another superb game against Susquehanna in which they held the Knights to less than 100 yards all game and allowed no touchdowns only to see the Titan offense consistently give up the football. Susquehanna's score came in the final 25 seconds of the last quarter when the Knight's one-armed place kicker booted a fifty-yard field goal to defeat the Titans 3 to 0.

If anything was to break the hapless trend,

Homecoming was it. Continuing Westminster's long tradition of homecoming victories, the Tartans of Carnegie-Mellon University became the Titan's twentieth consecutive victim, under Coach Burry. Defensive halfback Rich Hancox put Westminster on the scoreboard when he intercepted a CMU pass and raced 27 yards for a touchdown. In the second quarter, the Titans hit paydirt three more times. Joe Veres scored from the twelve-yard line and Bob Powers made a 40-yard touchdown run. Veres again scored to conclude the first half and the Titans led 28 to 0. In the third quarter Bill Beaver scored for the Westminster defensive team by recovering a CMU fumble in the end-zone. An interception by Mike Annarella set up a 21-yard pass from second string quarterback Skip Greenaway to halfback Roger Price. The Tartans managed to make the scoreboard the last quarter and the game ended 45 to 25.

Mt. Union offered a hard fought, low-scoring battle which left the first half deadlocked at 7 to 7. The game was won in the second half when Craig McNamara booted a dramatic field goal — bouncing the ball on the cross bar before it went over.

The highlight of the Heidelberg game was Chick Mathews' 77-yard punt-return touchdown. The real stars of the game, however, were the defensive members of the team. Bill Beaver, Art

Tate, Craig McNamara, and Mike Annarella formed the nucleus of the tight Titan Defense, which held Heidelberg scoreless.

Westminster defeated arch-enemy Waynesburg by a close score. The first Titan score was a one-yard plunge by Mark Acerni about half way through the first quarter. Waynesburg then tied the game in the second quarter. The game remained tied until the fourth quarter when, with 4:52 remaining, quarterback Dave Bierbach hit Joe Veres with a touchdown pass to give Westminster a 14 to 7 win. Waynesburg attempted to rally, but an interception by Fritz Tobias sealed the victory.

Winning over Waynesburg put real spirit in the Titan squad and the Geneva game proved to be a real rout. Dave Bierbach and Mark Acerni both crossed the goal line in the first half but the real thrillers remained for the second half. Sprung by a block by John Pugh, Bob Power raced 40-yards for a score. Ned Becker then blocked a Geneva punt and took the pigskin in for a defensive TD. Defense starred again as Daryl West intercepted two Geneva aerals, both of which set up Titan touchdowns. Joe Veres plunged into the end-zone once again before the end of the game and the Titans went into the locker room to end the season with an impressive 46 to 0 victory.

The Westminster Titan basketball team began their season with three close, but victorious ball-games, defeating Alliance, Carnegie-Mellon, and Waynesburg. Co-captain Ted Schumacher showed great improvement in rebounding. The majority of the team was built around underclassmen; returning lettermen Gary Brown, Scott Greenwood, Randy Huey, Tim Gribbin, and freshmen Tom Ritchey and Fred Rothen. The varsity team was troubled, however, with an assortment of bad shoulders, feet, hands, and ankles which contributed to two defeats from Youngstown and Syracuse. These problems were complicated by the unfortunate injury of Tom Tomczyk, who returned to action later in the season, and the tragic accident of Jim Barron, who was out the rest of the year.

Second Semester basketball got off to a slow start, but the close game with Pitt seemed to create the spirit that was needed. Even though the Titans lost 71-74, Pitt coach Buzz Ridl had nothing but praise for Coach Davis' squad. The Titans then treated the fans to seven straight victories. The key figure in these victories was Gary Brown whose hot hand tipped the balance more than one night. The Titan streak was not, however, the work of Brown alone. Huey, "Shoey," and Greenwood contributed more than their share and Fred Rothen showed great skill as a freshman.

Despite two late season losses to Bucknell and Pitt, the Titans seemed to look in the direction of K.C. Maybe they were just looking the other way when they played California.

Still swimming in an intercollegiate bathtub, the Titan swimmers finished the 1969-1970 season with a record of 2-7. With victories over Washington and Jefferson and Thiel, this year's Titans won more meets than the last four teams combined. Despite several disappointments, the teams continued to improve over the season.

This year's team included Freshman Dave Downing and Terry O'Halleron in the freestyle events, and Scott Weaver in the breast stroke. Sophomore John Petre has developed into a fine backstroker, while Loch Hall has continued to win in the 200 and 100 freestyle. Juniors on the team include Tom Blythe, a breast stroker, Spencer Howell, in distance freestyle, and Warren Risk in the butterfly and individual medley. Co-Captains for the team were senior Tom Kepple, a distance freestyler and Junior Dave Fuller who swam freestyle and individual medley. Freshman Ted Hendrickson and Sophomore Dave Clapperton were this year's divers, who performed well in every meet.

The season ended with the Titans finishing in eighth place in the eleven-team Penn-Ohio Championship. Hall, Downing, O'Halleron and Fuller led the team with a fourth in the freestyle relay. Fuller added a 6th in the 50 free, and also 9th and 11th, while Hall scored an 8th and a 9th and John Petre placed 12th.

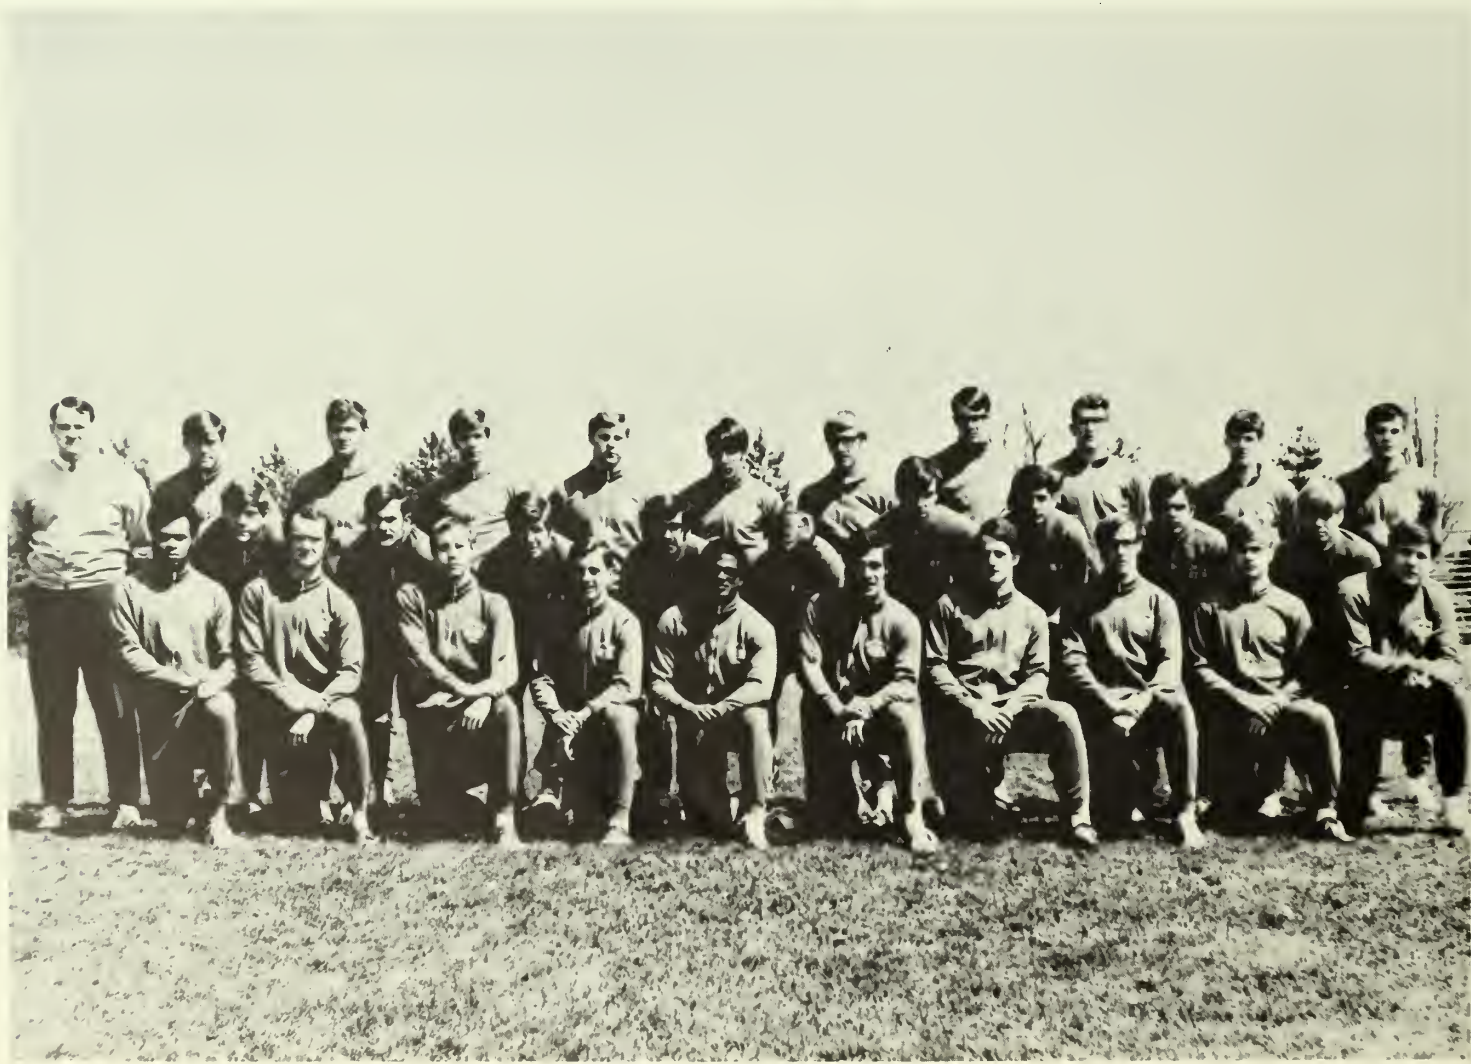

With only co-captain Tom Kepple graduating, the team is looking forward to a winning season in the future, and also, hopefully, to adequate facilities in the near future.

TENNIS

The Titan Tennis team made a fine showing this year under the very capable mentorship of Coach Joe Fusco. Steve Ross at number one position compiled the best record of 7-1 and would have had some tough competition if freshman Wally Clements had been able to finish the season. The team ended the season with the N.A.I.A. Districts at Edinboro with a first in number one doubles and a near victory for Ross in number one singles.

The Mermaids Club consists of upperclass women who are interested in water ballet. Tryouts are held in September and approximately 20 girls are invited to join the club.

The club meets once a week — practicing, making their own costumes, perfecting stunts in the water and putting their routines to music. Their annual show was held in March. Following the theme "Trip the Waves Fantastic" the girls presented variations of dances from different countries.
